Here at KOKET, SundukovySisters are in the list of our favorite top designers. Design studio Sundukovy Sisters was opened in 2004 in Moscow by Irina and Olga Sundukov and in just a few years the studio grew and concurred a leading position in designing public interiors in Russia and abroad. Sisters got the fame with their restaurants projects multiply recognized by the International Restaurant & Bar Design Awards. Due to Sundukov's professionalism and creativeness their design studio's geographical coverage is rapidly going beyond the boundaries of Russia and today we want to talk about one of their most recent and the most impressive projects in the heart of Europe – Pullman Hotel Designed by Sundukovy Sisters.

Recently Sundukov's team had won the international competition for the interior design of the Pullman Versailles Hotel in the historical centre of Paris. Although studio's design solutions are always well thought and focused on the people who will use the space, this time Sundukovy Sisters surprised us with the design that anticipates upcoming design trends.

The unique hallmark of their style can be noticed in the ultra-chic lobby, restaurant and lounge spaces decor of the Pullman's Hotel. Designers had stuck to their design principles to reject unnecessary details in order to create modern and tasteful spaces. Sundukovy Sisters team carefully analyzed the geography, history and the location of this project and, as a result, Sister's seem to effortlessly blend traditional and modern design pieces in this project with a touch of classic French elegance that leads to a breathtaking interiors appreciated by the guests of the hotel. Our team was impressed with the wise choice of the statement chandeliers and barstools.
